

THE SURVIVAL OF CIVILIZATION BY JOHN HAMAKER & DONALD WEAVER, HAMAKER-WEAVER PUBLISHER, 1982,

“IN THE RUSH TOWARD INDUSTRIALIZATION, IT BECAME EXPEDIENT FOR PEOPLE TO TURN TOWARD SPECIALIZATION.

THEY FORGOT THAT THIS IS AN ORDERLY UNIVERSE AND AN ORDERLY WORLD WHICH WORKS ACCORDING TO SCIENTIFIC, I.E. NATURAL LAWS WHICH ARE INVOLABLE.

NOW THE EXTENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL DESTRUCTION HAS FORCED US TO RECOGNIZE THAT EVERYTHING IN THE ENVIRONMENT HAS AN EFFECT ON EVERYTHING ELSE.

WITH THAT RECOGNITION, THE FIRST FEEBLE EFFORTS AT A MULTIDISCIPLINARY APPROACH TO PROBLEMS HAS BEGUN.

WE HAVE YET TO RECOGNIZE THAT THE DESIGN OF A VIABLE SOCIAL ORDER CAN NOT BE ACCOMPLISHED BY SOCIOLOGISTS WHO KNOW NOTHING OF ECONOMICS, ECONOMISTS WHO KNOW NOTHING OF SOCIOLOGY, AND LAWYERS WHO KNOW ONLY THEIR ALLEGIENCE TO THE LAWS OF THE STATUS QUO.

FEW OF THEM RECOGNIZE THAT THE SOCIAL ORDER AND THE ENVIRONMENT ARE COMPLETELY DEPENDENT ON EACH OTHER.”
